"What?" asked Little Grasshopper, taking the cup. "I'm proud of you," said Great-Grandpa. "You never gave up!"

Little Grasshopper hopped in the grass.

"Wait here!" said Great-Grandpa, going into a store. He came out with a present and said, "Guess what this is for?"
Great-Grandpa Grasshopper was sitting nearby. He was looking at Little Grasshopper with pride.

Little Grasshopper hopped all day long. He tried many tricks, but most had gone wrong.

"Come on," said Great-Grandpa. "It's now time to go." So they hopped down the trail and headed for home.

He tried to hop high. He tried to hop fast.
He grew very tired, but he did not sit still.

Little Grasshopper hopped all around.

He tried climbing a tree, but he fell on the ground.

Little Grasshopper hopped up the hill.
He jumped over the tracks, but landed on a snail.

He skipped and he tripped, and he fell on his knee.

Little Grasshopper hopped down the trail.

Little Grasshopper hopped by a tree.