Here is my last photo. It is a photo of a photographer. The photographer is me! Cheese!

I am a photographer. Wherever I go I take photographs. Here is a photo I took at the beach.

The cord belongs to this phone. The phone also makes a sound. The phone goes, "Rrrring!"

Here is a photo I took on a farm. It is a photo of a white tail, too. This white tail does not belong to a whale.

See the white tail? This tail belongs to a whale. The whale is whirling through the water.

Here is another photo. I took this photo at home. It is a photo of something else on a cord.

The cord belongs to this whistle. The whistle makes a sound. The whistle goes, "Wheeeel!"
Here is another photo. I took this photo in school, too. It is a photo of something on a cord.

This white tail belongs to an eagle. The eagle whirls in the wind.

Here is another photo. I took this photo on the farm, too. It is a photo of a wheel.

The wheels belong to this wheelchair. My friend is wheeling down the hall.
Here is another photo. I took this photo in school. It is a photo of two wheels.

The wheel belongs to this wheelbarrow. The wheelbarrow has just one wheel.

Here is another photo. I took this photo on the farm, too. It shows what is inside the wheelbarrow.

Wheat is inside the wheelbarrow. The wheat is as golden as the sun.
